Summary

Gerard has worked in the legal industry for more than 9 years. As a Certified Paralegal, he worked as a trial paralegal for the first 3 years in the industry, logging more than 3,000 hours of actual 'in trial' experience. In 2004, Gerard became a litigation support consultant devoted to assisting his corporate legal and law firm clients in the preparation of their discovery documents for review and production. He has extensive experience with electronic documents from collection and review through to production. Over the years, Gerard has worked with a whole host of matters involving cases before state and federal courts. Through his work on these matters, Gerard has developed a vast working knowledge of collection procedures for the safe handling of data, review databases and the applications used by his clients including Concordance, Summation and Sanction trial presentation. Gerard currently supports clients directly during the process of assessing their discovery needs, collecting native file data, conversion of data for purposes of review and production, database import into review platforms and the production of discovery to a variety of platforms required during the life cycle of their matters.
